

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1744.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland, and another from Flanders.

Petersburgh, September 12.

It is thought that her Imperial Majesty will return sooner than was expected from Kiow to Moscow; and that she will come hither the Beginning of next Month. Immediately after the Departure of the Czarina from Moscow, three Imperial Decrees were publish'd. By the first, the Church is deliver'd from the great Restraints laid upon her by the State, during the Reign of the late Emperor, Peter I. Since that Time, all the Estates of the Clergy have been manag'd by a special Commission; who paid to every College, Abbey, and Monastery, what was thought sufficient for the Maintenance of those belonging to it, and paid over the rest to the publick Treasurer. But by this new Decree, the Revenues of the Church are put upon their ancient Footing; so that the Clergy may now dispose of them as they think fit. The second Decree regards the Military Establishment of this Empire, which, during her Absence, is entirely confided to his Highness the Prince of Hesse Hombourg. By the third Decree, her Imperial Majesty declares one Mr. Demidoff, a Russian Merchant, independent of all Boards of the Revenue, and even of the Senate itself, and responsible only to her Imperial Majesty for his Correspondence.

Madrid, September, 15. His Excellency M. Grefflein, Minister from the States General, has solicited, and obtain'd, the Discharge of the nine Dutch Ships that were lately carried into the Harbour of Carthage. The Court is oblig'd to remain at St. Idelfonso, and cannot remove this Year to the Escorial, because of the Accident that has lately happen'd there, by which all the Offices belonging to the Court are burnt down. There are People wicked enough to say, that the Lightning which consum'd this Part of the Palace did not fall from Heaven; but that it came from the same Quarter which, more than once, has had Recourse to some such Expedient, to prevent his Majesty's having a Sight of a Place, where he once spent his Days in Retirement. There has lately been discover'd here a Sharper of a very extraordinary Kind. His Name is Stephen Bouquer, a Native of Neuchatell; who, under various Pretences, had found Means to insinuate himself into the Houses of several Foreign Ministers; and was very well with the Secretaries of the Royal Councils, and other Persons of Distinction about the Court, at the same time that he acted as a Spy for the Court of Vienna. Upon this Discovery, he was immediately order'd to quit the City in 24 Hours, and the Kingdom as soon as possible. We have just receiv'd Intelligence, that the Mars, a French Man of War, commanded by M. Nesmond, has taken, in the Height of Cape Finister, an English Man of War of 40 Guns, and four Ships laden with Ammunition; which occasions great Joy here, tho' some People pretend to call the Truth of the Fact in Question.

Milan, Sept. 19. We have receiv'd a Piece of News, which, tho' it is disagreeable, gains Credit, at the same time that the Particulars are very indistinctly told. The Substance of it is this; that on the 5th of this Month 6000 Spanish Troops, on board 40 Transports, escorted by six Sail of Men of War, made a Descent on the Island of Sardinia; of which they became immediate Masters, the Inhabitants being very well known to have a great Affection for the Spanish Government.

Extract of a Letter from the Camp before Coni, dated September 25, 1744.

Things go on very well here, and indeed, much better than we expected. On the 22d of this Month, we made ourselves Masters of the Covert Way; and it the Spaniards had completed the second Parallel in time, might have been Masters of the Place. We have had, however, some little Accidents, that have retarded us somewhat; particularly, the breaking of three of our Mortars, and the bursting of two Pieces of Cannon, that were 26 Pounders; by which, an Engineer, three Officers of the Train of Artillery, and four Cannoniers were kill'd upon the Spot, and above 30 Persons wounded. Our Artillery, which consists of 46 Pieces of Cannon, has already made a Breach in the Silliant Angle of one of the Bastions of the Place. We have for these three Days last past, made a continual Fire with red hot Bullets, so that there is not a Root left upon a single House in the Town; a great Magazine of Hay is burnt, and the Place is every Moment in danger of being confesed. The Prince of Conti sent a Message, the other Day, to the Governor, to let him know, that if he did not surrender within a certain Time, he would certainly cause him to be hang'd; to which he answer'd, That he had much rather be hang'd by his Highness, for doing his Duty, than by the King, his Master, for the Neglect of it. We make no doubt of taking the Place before the End of the Month; but if we should be mistaken, we are in no sort of Pain about our Winter Quarters, which are already secured to us, in the Territories of the State of Genoa; in which City a Spanish General is daily expected; and, upon his Arrival, a Body of Troops, in the Service of the Republick, will instantly form the Siege of Tortona.

Vienna, Sept. 23. On the 21st, about Noon, a Captain of Grenadiers, of the Regiment of Schulemberg, arriv'd here, from the Governor of Prague, with the News, that that City had surrendered, and that this was occasion'd by the Townsmen and Militia absolutely refusing to concur in defending the Place any longer. There are some other Particulars mentioned, in Regard to the Loss of this City, which we do not care to repeat, till we are satisfied of the Truth of them; which will not occasion any great Delay, since M. de Harsch, who commanded in that City, is every Hour expected here, in order to give an Account of his Conduct, before a Council of War. It is certain, that the King of Prussia, after leaving a Garrison of 6000 Men in Prague, is march'd from thence, with the rest of his Army; some Accounts say, towards Budweis, and others, into Moravia. This unexpected Piece of News has occasioned abundance of Conferences, and dispatching the Couriers into Hungary, Bavaria, and Bohemia, as well as to Dresden and Warlaw. The Number of Workmen employed in the Fortifications of this City, have been lately doubled, and no Precaution is neglected that can contribute to our Defence. This very Evening Prince Charles of Lorraine sets out to put himself at the Head of his Army; and we are assur'd, that as soon as he enters Bohemia, he will be join'd by 26,000 Saxons.

Mentz, Sept. 30. His Electoral Highness returned hither on the 24th from Frankfort, extremely well satisfied with the Reception he met with at the Imperial Court; as the Emperor appears to be now, with the Conduct of his Electoral Highness, in every Respect. The Evening before his Departure, the Emperor return'd his Visit incognito; and to prevent Trouble, from unnecessary Ceremonies, went thither without giving the least Notice, in the Coach of the great Master of his Household. It is doubtful whether the Emperor will take the Field this Year, or not; but it is very certain, that the News of Count Seckendorff's having recovered Bavaria, is every Hour expected at Frankfort.

Hague, October 7. According to our last Advices from Brussels, the Archduchess is in Labour, and in extreme Danger, two Physicians being sent for from Lorrain, on purpose to attend her. Our last Advices from Ratisbon say, that the King of Prussia has made himself Master of Budweis. There are Letters from Hamburg, which assure us, that the Crown of Sweden, in virtue of its German Dominions, has acceded to the Treaty of Union, lately concluded at Frankfort. According to the last Accounts from the Army of the Allies, the necessary Dispositions are making for their attacking the French under the Command of the Marshal Saxe; the same Letters say, that our General, Count Maurice of Saxony, is at the Point of Death. The State continue their Deliberation on the present Conjunction, without suffering a Title of their Resolutions to transpire.

P. S. The following Translation of the last Letter written by her Majesty the Queen of Hungary, to their High Mightinesses, is handed about in Manuscript here, of which I send you a Copy:

High and Mighty Lords and Friends,

The Event confirms, every Day, more and more, what we had the Honour to write to your High Mightinesses on the 30th of May last. Experience, the best of all Mistresses, informs us, but too truly, what Measures ought to have been long ago taken; there is nobody now, who does not perceive, that the longer one temporizes, the more the Mischief, the more the Danger increases. Things are come now to such a Pass, that there is no having Recourse any more to the Faith of Treaties; tho' the particular Safety of every Power, and that of the Publick in general, depends wholly and entirely upon this Basis. If ever there was a Time, in which you ought to act for the Security of your Republick, this is certainly it; when that Barrier, which your Fathers thought indispensibly necessary for its Preservation, and of which you seem'd all along to have the same Idea, is not violated only, but totally overturned. This is a Loss, that is not to be repaired by long Deliberations, or sending of Ambassadors. There is but one efficacious Remedy, which is to unite your Forces, without longer Delay, and to act vigorously, and in Concert.

After the common Enemy, animated by the Hatred that they bear to our House, which they look upon as the most firm Support of the publick Liberty, had attempted to subvert it; and when they had endeavour'd to dethrone the King of Great Britain, it was your High Mightinesses's Turn to feel the Effects of their Malice. According to the Example of our dear Father of glorious Memory, we a long Time ago forewarn'd you of the Danger, and agreeable to our sincere Kindness for the Republick, did not delay proposing to you proper Methods for securing your Safety. But at this Day our Cities, under the Faith of the most solemn Treaties committed to your Care, are attack'd and taken, with the same Rapidity, as in the last Century. There is no Time now to deliberate; you ought to consider how to prevent Siguntum from being crush'd, while the Matter is talk'd over at Rome; that is to say, that the Enemy, flush'd with Conquest, do not penetrate, while you are considering, into the Heart of your Dominions. The Thing speaks itself; amidst all your Considerations, there's one Thing necessary, that you first of all find Means to dispel this Danger. The small Delay is forbidden and condemned by the fundamental Constitution of your Republick, which obliges you not to defer a Moment what is necessary to its well being, instead of nourishing and increasing the Danger by a mortal Temporizing.

We have always declared, and we again declare, that we expect nothing from you above the known Force of your Republick; tho', on our Side, we have made, for the publick Liberty, as all the World acknowledges, Effects much beyond what any of our Predecessors ever made; but it is very certain, that if you had sooner consented to the Solicitations founded on the happy Ties which unite us to your Republick, that the desired Tranquillity had been long ago re-establish'd with much less Pains and Cost.

General Post-Office, London September 14, 1744.

Whereas a Term of Six Months was allowed, by the 19th Article of the Treaty of Utrecht, between Great-Britain and France, for the Subjects of both Crowns, in Case of a Rupture, to withdraw their Effects out of the respective Kingdoms; and whereas the said Term of Six Months, computing from the Time of the Declaration of War between his Majesty and the French King, is now near expired: Publick Notice is hereby given to all manner of Persons, whom it may concern, that no Packet Boat whatsoever, will be permitted to sail between Dover and Calais, from and after the 30th of this Instant, September. Yesterday the Justices of the Peace for the City and Liberty of Westminster, met at the Town Court House, when a Letter from the Right Hon. the Lord Cartaret, one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, was read, which related to the frequent Robberies that are committed in the said City and Liberty, and elsewhere; desiring their Worship to give strict Charge to the Constables to be vigilant, and to prevent all disorderly Houses, Night Cellars, &c. in their respective Wards, who harbour such Villains; and the said Charge was given accordingly to the Constables, by Thomas Burdus, Esq; Chairman of the said Sessions. It was further desired, that the Justices would sit often, and issue out their Warrants for apprehending all disorderly Persons, in order to put a Stop to the Growth of such evil Practices.

Last Wednesday Night, about Seven o'Clock, Mrs. Hunt, Wife of Mr. Hunt, a Butcher in Tothill-street, Westminster, was met in the Passage adjoining to the Shop, by a Soldier, who knock'd her down; and on her Screaming out, drew his Sword; but the Neighbours coming to her Assistance, the Villain made off without his Booty.

To the whole will be added, a Narrative of the extraordinary Hardships suffered by the Adventurers in this Voyage.

Printed for J. Robinson, at the Golden Lion in Ludgate-street; and may be had of the News Carriers.

Note, This Journal will be comprised in seven or eight Numbers, printed on a good Paper and new Letter, if it exceeds this, the Overplus will be given gratis. It has been acknowledged to be an authentick Account by an Officer of the Centurion, who has perused it; whereas the Publick has been most impudently impos'd on by other Things pretending to be such, which are either very imperfect Narratives, or notorious Fictions. For Instance, one Thing pretending to be a Journal of this Expedition, is taken from the Narrative of the Loss of the Ship Wager, published above a Year ago; and is by no means correctly printed and bound, of J. Robinson in Ludgate-street, for 3 s. 6 d. And another Thing coming out is our Journal wretchedly pirated.
